

The invitation features a dark orange background with a large, glowing orange moon in the center. A silhouette of a witch on a broom is flying across the moon. To the right, there is a silhouette of a haunted castle with several towers and windows. In the bottom left corner, a carved jack-o'-lantern with a glowing face sits on a bed of autumn leaves. The entire image is framed by a decorative border of small black bats. The text is arranged in a central column, with the title at the top, the date and location in the middle, and the closing message at the bottom.
